Quality Aircrete

H+H aircrete is designed to meet our own exacting quality standards as well as providing constructions to meet the requirements of Building Regulations for internal partition walls, solid walls, cavity walls, separating walls, cavity and solid foundations and suspended floors.

H+H is the leading manufacturer of aircrete building materials within the UK. We strongly believe in the future of aircrete, which is why we exclusively make and sell quality aircrete solutions.

Being committed to research and development, we have also helped develop aircrete into the versatile building material it is today.
